

Where do I go for assistance?

Faculty Resources in CID and FaCIT

- If you are developing a fully online course, you should work with CMU's Center for Instructional Design (CID) according to procedures outlined by ProfEd and your college.
- If you are seeking to become a better instructor in face-to-face and technology enhanced courses, or simply want to expand your knowledge and use of technology, you should work with CMU's Faculty Center for Innovative Teaching (FaCIT).

CID (Center for Instructional Design) services that are primary to CID

- Online Course Planning & Development
- Online Course Revision & Review
- Accessibility for Online Courses
- Teaching Online Certification Course
- Online Course Development Workshop
- Blackboard Task Certification Course

FaCIT (Faculty Center for Innovative Teaching) services that are primary to FaCIT

- Formative Teaching Evaluation: including individual consultations
- Classroom Visits and Taping for Teaching Review
- Service Learning Support
- Image Processing
- Graphic Design - Print & Posters
- Student Learning Workshops
- Multimedia Workshops
- Conference and Event Planning
- Classroom Response Systems
- Teaching Central Newsletter
- Grants/Funding
- Teaching Awards
- New Faculty Orientation
- Faculty Communications
- Innovation Research
- Survey Generation/Data Collection
- Reports/Statistical Summaries
- Space & Equipment Reservation/Loan

Both FaCIT & CID services that both groups provide

- Instructional Design
- Selecting Appropriate Methods and Technology for Courses
- Online Collaboration Software Training
- Online Teaching Informational Sessions
- Animation
- Video Production
- Audio Production
- CD-ROM/DVD Creation
- Digital Photography
- Web Development & Graphic Design
- Consulting
- Web Tutorials
- Media Conversion & Distribution
- Faculty Technical Support
- Blackboard Workshops
- Screen Capture